

The wine label is a vertical composition. At the top, there is a faint, intricate pattern in shades of green and purple. Below this, a map of Tuscany is overlaid with various elements: a plume of smoke on the left, two dark cherries in the center, and a pile of golden-brown tobacco leaves at the bottom. The text "black cherry" is written in a large, bold, black, typewriter-style font. Below it, the words "smoke", "subtle tobacco", "harmonious", and "tannins" are stacked in a smaller, black, typewriter-style font. At the bottom, "Biagio Chianti Riserva Tuscany" is written in a black, typewriter-style font.
