

aglianico

Greek in origin, this grape produces one of the best and most powerful, and broadly structured reds in Southern Italy.

Rich berry and spice aromas with an elegant palate with suggestions of berry and strawberry jam. Outstanding with meat or tomato-based sauces, red meats and robust cheeses.

Aglianico del beneventano IGT

fanghina

This is an ancient species of grape, familiar to the Romans who prized and called it "Falernina."

A versatile white with a complex and unique character full of rich, fresh flavors and minerality. Best as an aperitif or with seafood dishes.

"tears of christ"

La Cryma Christi or "Tears of Christ" has a long, legendary history. When Lucifer was cast from heaven, Christ cried his tears on the slopes of Vesuvio and vines grew.

Fresh, fleshy fruit and a elegant palate of citrus, mineral and a touch of ash. Excellent with shellfish.
